This short ebook (17 pages) explores the question about inward flowering - from the intro: "We should ask, whether we are inwardly and perhaps also outwardly - they are really related - whether we are growing, not physically taller or stronger, but inwardly, psychologically, flowering. I mean by that word flowering that nothing hinders us, nothing blocks or prevents us from actually growing deeply, inwardly. Most of us hardly ever flower, grow, bloom. Something happens in the course of our life which stultifies us, deadens us, so that there is no deep inward nourishment." HomeEnglish BooksBookletsInward Flowering ₹ 12.00 Brockwood Park School in England is a small community of teachers and young adults, founded by Krishnamurti to serve as a milieu for exploring the fundamental questions of life and for growing inwardly. Aware of the problems of living in such a group, he asks: 'What's the point of Brockwood if you are going to turn out like the many millions of people who have never felt, or inquired, or lived, in the sense of this vast deepening, flowing, flowering?' At the end of the discussion, Krishnamurti restates his basic proposition that while thought is necessary in practical matters, it is 'deadly in relationship'.
